Opposition To Wedded Women Teachers Seen

That the retaining of women teachers on the school department payroll will be an issue in the coming town election is freely predicted as a result of the stand taken by Joseph Bevins, school-committeeman who, in seeking re-election, stated at the caucus of the Civic Committee last Sunday that he was opposed to married women as teachers.

Arlington has eighteen married women teachers, eleven of whom do not even live here, according to Mr. Bevins. Because of economic conditions which deprive single girls and young men who have just graduated from college in many cases, of much deserved positions and because he believes married women are not as competent as single women teachers, Mr. Bevins stated he was opposed to the present policy in Arlington.

Much interest is being manifested here in a mass meeting to be held in Medford tomorrow evening at which time the employment of married women in the schools and public offices will be protested. The meeting was called by Mrs. Evelyn M. Bracy, of 22 Pilgrim rd.

Mrs. Bracy stepped into the Medford public life by heading a tax reduction movement following the tax jump announced by the former mayor Burke. The tax rate was reduced the next year.

"The meeting is to protest against employment of married women whose husband are able to provide for them while married men with families, single men, and unmarried women are unable to get jobs and are dependent upon welfare," Mrs. Bracy declares.

For some time, Mrs. Bracy declares, agitation has been current to have various department heads handle the situation without any general public protest, but the suggestions have fallen on deaf ears, she says.

"The time has come when the people are demanding that their voices be heard in this matter. We have waited to see what the state, the city, and various civic bodies would do, but it appears that they intend to do nothing. The taxpayer must act if anything is to be done."

Fair and Warmer?

If a new broom sweeps clean, as the philosophers of old tell us, then it follows that with the appointment of a new weather man, we may look for an improvement in our climate. He is Willis R. Gregg, shown at his desk in the U. S. Weather Bureau at Washington after being sworn in as Chief of the bureau.

Town Fathers Favor Child Welfare Bills

Believing that Arlington will benefit by the passage of four bills in the Legislature to legalize the protection of neglected children, the board of selectmen has sent communications to Senator Charles C. Warren, Representatives Hollis M. Gott and Nelson Crosby urging them to support the four proposed measures.

A hearing on the bills was held before the Joint Judiciary committee in Room 222 at the State House this morning. The measure if passed would make it easier to place children of a family where either one of the parents is not mentally fit, in institutions where proper care might be given the children. One of the bills also provides that appeals to superior courts on such cases of neglected children would be brought up before a judge and not a jury. It is felt the elimination of juries in such cases would save the children embarrassment.

The aim of the four bills is primarily to prevent children of mentally-deficient parents to become criminals.

DR. F. E. TALTY OFFERS SOLUTION FOR CURRENCY; BACKS PRES. ROOSEVELT

In an interesting letter to the Daily News, Dr. Francis E. Talty, offers his views on sound currency for this country. Dr. Talty writes:

Editor of Arlington News,
Arlington, Mass.

Dear Mr. Editor:

If we are to believe the News Reports the frontal attack on the depression must begin with an attack on the Monetary System, shall it stand as it has for 60 years or must some new theory be devised.

From the writings I have read and the spoken words I have heard over the radio I, for one am firmly convinced the Monetary question can not stand as it stood for the past 6 years.

I have gathered from what I have heard and read that gold is the basis of real sound currency, if so, as a basis it must remain as stationary as the basis of the Presidential Range in New Hampshire; for it is just as important, if our currency is to stand that gold remain stationary as it is for the base of the White Mountains to remain stationary that they might stand.

It is just as logical to allow every visitor or their ancestors who ever visited and marvelled at their grandeur of their lofty peaks to invest all their wealth for their money's worth at the base and permit him to take that money's worth with him and expect the Mountain to stand as it is to allow every man to invest all his money in the base of currency, permitting him to take it and expect sound currency to stand.

If the august mountains

throughout the land teach us one lesson surely it is the lesson: "We cannot have our base firm and movable at the same time." Silver is less precious than gold because more easily produced but it surely should be as valuable as its productivity, I say at least because it is more durable than gold and thus as a circulating medium of exchange should be a little more valuable if value be based on scarcity and durability plus cost of production, human labor cost.

What then is the solution of sound currency; perhaps the following:

Allow the Government to own the gold, issue silver currency in its true value to the Government's holdings of gold. If this furnish not sufficient circulating media of exchange than either reduce the gold content of the dollar still more if we wish to remain on the gold standard or else issue paper money backed by pure silver which pure silver shall remain as stationary in the vaults of the United States as pure gold remains stationary.

This suggestion may be worth something or nothing, at any rate I for one feel President Roosevelt is on the right track and may we all stand with the President as long as his heart and mind remains where I think it remains; for his Country's welfare and not for the acquisition of wealth which he possesses since birth had he not lifted a finger to hold or increase the wealth he rightly acquired.

Very truly yours,
Francis E. Talty, M. D.

Non-Partisan Meeting Will Attract Many

The Arlington Heights Tower Association, Inc. is sponsoring a Non Partisan Political Meeting to be held at the Brackett School on Eastern ave, February 27th., at 8 p. m. when every candidate who desires to do so will be given an opportunity to speak. This meeting is primarily for voters of Precincts 10 and 12 living about Gray st. and the association is going to distribute flyers about a week before the meeting to all residents in this section.

All candidates for public office in the coming town election are urged to take notice of this date and plan to be present. As soon as the association can obtain a complete list of all candidates whose names will appear on the ballot a letter will be sent each candidate inviting him or her to be present.

Arlington High Wins

After trailing up to the last minute of play, the Arlington High basketball five nosed out Cambridge High and Latin, 24 to 23, in a hectic game in the Arlington High gym yesterday afternoon. As the game entered the final 60 seconds of play, Cambridge Latin led 23 to 21. Clarke the Arlington right forward, sank a foul, and then with scarcely 30 seconds left Madden shot a neat basket to win for Arlington.

WEATHER

Today fair and warmer, moderate shifting winds, becoming south or southwest and increasing; Tomorrow occasional rain and warmer.

No One Hurt As Street Car, Auto Crash

Passengers in a Boston Elevated street car and automobile escaped injury in a collision at the corner of Massachusetts ave. and Varnum street yesterday morning.

The operator of the auto was Alfred Cartulo, of 1189 Massachusetts ave. The auto was going toward Cambridge while the street car was coming in the direction of Arlington at the time of the accident.

Hughes Calls Meeting Of Candidates

Candidates endorsed by the Civic Committee as a result of the caucus held last Sunday met at the home of attorney Albert D. Hughes, Pleasant st., last evening to discuss campaign plans. The meeting was called by Mr. Hughes, candidate for selectman and proved most constructive to all those present.

Church Group Will Discuss Government

In order to test the feeling of the men and women of the Universalist church, a meeting for those interested in the discussion of international, national, and local affairs will be held on Sunday next, February 4, at 12.10 in the parish house. The discussion will be led by a former professor at the University of Prague.

If enough interest is shown, better known authorities will be invited to lead the discussion on the other Sundays in February and the subjects will be taken from national and local affairs. These discussion meetings are sponsored by the Universalist Men's Club. All men and women of Arlington are invited.

Refuse One- Way Request

The request of residents of Grafton st. demanding that it be made a one-way street has been denied by the board of selectmen. In making its decision the board felt that there is not sufficient traffic on Grafton st. to restrict it to one-way.

Mock Trial At I.O.O.F. Hall

Bethel Lodge, of Odd Fellows, hall on Massachusetts ave, will resound with laughter and cheers tonight when a good old-fashioned mock trial will be put on by the Three Links association. Several hundred people from Arlington and surrounding towns and cities are expected to attend the affair.

Creedon Funeral To Be Tomorrow

The funeral of Miss Ellen T. Creedon, who died at her home, 25 Allen st. last Monday, following an illness of four years, will be held from the late home tomorrow morning. A solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated in St. Agnes' church at 9 o'clock.

Miss Creedon was born in Charlestown thirty years ago and lived in Arlington over four years. She was the daughter of Catherine (Toomey) Creedon and the late John Creedon. She is survived by four brothers, John J., of Medford; Bart L., of Arlington; William J., a Boston police officer attached to Division 16 in the Back Bay, of Brighton; Timothy F., of Arlington and two sisters, Mary and Catherine, both of Arlington.

"Spread Sunshine and Safety"

Daddy Sunshine Club Rules

1. Be kind and helpful to others.
2. Look both ways when crossing streets.
3. Always be kind to dumb animals.
4. Write a letter to Daddy Sunshine, or have Mother or Dad write M for you, every now and then.
5. Try to bring a "Ray of Sunshine" into the lives of your parents and others every day of the week and every week of the year.

These rules are not very difficult for good girls and boys to keep. Most of them are kept by them anyway.

Mail your letters and stories to Daddy Sunshine, in care of this paper. He will answer them in the Daddy Sunshine column.

Write on but one side of the paper, and place your age and address on the letter after your name. Give the day, month and year of your birth.

To join the club all you have to do is promise to keep the rules—and keep them.

PUPILS

Pupils in the lower grade. Sometimes, not as a rule, it seems that they are delayed. Returning home from school.

Pale appear, they stop to talk, Or go somewhere to play; Forgetting all about the clock, That marks the waning day.

Parents are disturbed at this, And worry to the bone; What happened to the lad or miss; Why doesn't that child come home?

Mother interrupts her task, The evening meal, near done; Visits here and there to ask About the girl or son.

Thoughtless? That's the kiddies' mind;

But parents think—my word! Accidents of any kind Who knows, might have occurred.

Here is the amusing thing— When the child comes back; Will the mother gaily sing, Or greet it with a whack?

BETTY WRITES AGAIN

Dear Daddy Sunshine

I am sorry I have not written to you sooner, as I have been very busy. We had a party in school the name of it was "The Little Vegetable Man." The Vegetables were onion, beet, carrot, bean and tomato. The flowers daisies and tea rose. Our mothers and fathers came, besides the forth, fifth and sixth grades. I was a tomato in the play.

I was nine years old January 16, 1934.

Yours truly,
Betty Whitman

Daddy Sunshine was certainly glad to hear from you again Betty, and feels certain you will write more frequently in the future. He is always happy to hear of the various parties the members attend, and the things they do. He will look forward to your next letter.

LEONA JOINS

Dear Daddy Sunshine:

I am not yet a member of your club but would like to be one. I read the letters every night and get much fun out of them. My name is, Leona S. Murphy, age 12 born, January 18th, 1922. I will obey the rules. May I be a member?

Yours truly,
Leona Murphy

Leona, as a member of the Daddy Sunshine club, you will always keep foremost in mind your duty of spreading Sunshine and cheer. A real Sunshiner is always looking for an opportunity to do a good deed. There are many opportunities to do so—we do not have to go far. Start in your own home. Be the first to give in in some of those petty quarrels all children have. Be kind, considerate, ever ready to do something to make those near and dear to you happier. Don't carry tales. Don't speak ill of any one. Be the last to listen to

Medford Boy Is Held Following Motor Car Crash

James J. Mullen, 17, of Mystic st., Charlestown, and William J. McColgan, 15, of Everett st., Medford, who were arrested Sunday night in a wild automobile chase through Charlestown streets which ended in a crash into a Elevated post appeared in Charlestown Municipal Court.

McColgan, a juvenile, was charged with larceny of an automobile and using an automobile without authority of the owner; Edgar J. Patterson of 82 Jersey st., Boston, which was reported stolen three hours before the arrest of the boys from in front of 14 Green st., Charlestown. His case was continued for a hearing later in the week in the juvenile session of the court.

Mullen pleaded not guilty to the charge of larceny of the automobile owned by Patterson and was held in $1500 for the Superior Court. On a charge of operating an automobile in a manner to endanger the lives and safety of the public he was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction, which he appealed, being held in $500 for the Superior Court.

On the charge of using an automobile without authority of the owner Judge Sullivan found he "appeared to be guilty" and ordered him held in $100 for the Superior Court. He also was fined $5 on a charge of operating an automobile without a license and was held in $50 personal recognizance for the Superior Court.

Both boys were injured in the crash and appeared in court with cuts and bruises. McColgan's face injuries were covered with plasters. Mullen had contusion and abrasions on the head and face.

A third boy in the speeding automobile was William Burke, 16, of Elm st., Charlestown. He was transferred from the Haymarket sq Relief station to the City Hospital suffering from a probable fracture of the pelvis, possible internal injuries and bruises on the body. Because of his condition he was unable to be taken by the police on any charge.

scandal and the first to defend a chum whom another is talking ill about. Yes, Leona, as a Daddy Sunshiner, you now have to be even more on the alert to spread good and attack evil. Daddy Sunshine welcomes you and any of your chums whom you feel should belong to the club. Write frequently to the column and tell of the many ways you find to do good.

OLD "CORNER GANG" NEVER FORGETS A BIRTHDAY OR A WEDDING AMONG FRIENDS

Back in the good old days, and perhaps today way back in the country, where the village has a general store, the male population used to gather to discuss current problems, which make or unmake nations. Here many a disciple of Blackstone practiced his art on his unsuspecting fellow citizens, material for books, like "David Harum" was gathered by budding authors, nature stories of the habits of forest creatures or funny hordes; tall stories which roused contradictions and "razzing" by the "gang". Political discussions, which created acrimonious discussions—stories told in undertones, Oh, yes!—the male element was prone to tear reputations apart as any female busybody—all were a part of the doings, when the pot-bellied stove was red in the winter—or when the palm leaf fans were being put to use as the summer heat prevailed as the loafers (?) sat on the shaded porch and commented upon the passers by.

Today, there are few places where the men of the neighborhood gather, to discuss the problems of the day, having little else to entertain. Yet there are a few gathering places where the crowd likes to drop in and visit with their neighbors—to indulge in a little game of checkers or what have you. When the better half of the family wants the other half, she knows where to find him—to remind him of an errand he may have neglected, and sometimes to check up on him. Oh, yes.

Introspection

There is one spot in Medford where congenial spirits gather, after the supper hour. Here the whys and wherefores of the political activities are soundly discussed, abuses condemned and constructive movements commended.

Always in such a gathering you will find a leader—a popular "guy" who can take it and come back with an oral punch which leaves the "wise" one groggy. All in fun and goodfellowship.

Here the mantle of charity is woven, to enshroud the worthy—the helping hand is ever in evidence, without questioning. Here is fostered the bond of sympathy and relief for the erring ones receive assistance and are set aright.

"The corner gang" who never forget a birthday or a wedding anniversary—and dig deep for floral tributes for a departed one. In So. Medford there is such a crowd. Any night rain or shine some of them may be found leaning back in comfortable chairs, or engaging in a game of pitch. Among the members of this "gang" is a well-known hardware dealer—a man whose name is the same as that great humanitarian who wore the coat of many colors.

Always Willing

Always willing to play the game—charitable to the extreme, without whose presence there would be a great void in the assembly.

To record the names of those with whom he associates, who call him friend would be to name some of the most prominent personages in political, fraternal or civic life in the city.

Possessed of that gift which makes life worth while, a rare sense of humor, a go-getter and a "square shooter" in all business with his fellow men and whom none excel in generosity or charitable deeds, he bears the cognomen of "Joe" and to his neighbors of Italian descent, who honor him, he is called Cavelieri Giuseppe Fischler.

Army Officers In Big CWA Jobs

WASHINGTON — Army officers are to be placed in charge of civil works administration in several of the largest cities of the country.

Harry L. Hopkins, the civil works administrator, said the engineers' corps has assigned a group of experienced officers to the administration to become civil works administrators in several cities, in some place replacing civilian heads of the administration.

Hopkins has been having difficulty in some sections with efforts of politicians to secure control of the civil works administration.

Complain of Graft
There also have been some complaints that at a few spots along the line graft had crept into civil works.

Hopkins announced that he had approved allotments of $13,000,000 to be used to purchase materials in various states.

These included:
Maine, $100,000; Massachusetts, $850,000; New Hampshire, $130,000; New York, $1,000,000, and Pennsylvania, $860,000.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed at the White House that President Roosevelt was withholding his request for another billion dollars for relief purposes until it had been determined on Capitol Hill whether the full sum should be requested in one lump sum or in several smaller allotments.

The $1,166,000,000 to complete this fiscal year ending June 30, includes $350,000,000 to continue the civil works administration until May 1; $500,000,000 for some direct relief and about $300,000,000 for another year of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Would Be Dropped
Any office holders or candidates for office found in the ranks of CWA executives would be dropped immediately.

The statement was made during a discussion today of the recent election to the state senate of a civil works administrator in a Rhode Island city.

"I feel that such persons have no place in the organization," Hopkins said. "A man might be doing the best kind of work but if he is a candidate for office he should not be allowed to continue."

The administration here received 37,000 letters and telegrams last week. Twenty-five per cent of the complaints among them charged discrimination of one kind or another in placing workers. Veterans, laborers and Negroes complained they were discriminated against. There also were charges of political favoritism.

THRILLS PARTY GUESTS

A "polo game", which proved to be a most novel and popular way to entertain, was given Sunday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Usher, of Ashland st. for a party of twelve guests. Meeting at the Usher home the guests were driven to the Good Riding School where they witnessed the usual Sunday afternoon exhibition polo with the added thrills of some exhibition jumping arranged for the invited guests by Miss Ruth Good.

There were many spectators, as is usual, and among the guests of the Usher party we saw: Mr. and Mrs. Warren Dasher, of Roslindale, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Moore, of Malden, Miss Dorothy Mann, Miss Ruth Crease, Miss Dorothy Rush, Dr. Eldred Peacock, Harvard Medical School, Dr. James Bovaird, Tufts Medical School and Douglas Papkee.

After the polo games and jumping the party repaired to the home of Miss Crease where a buffet supper was served followed by bridge. All were of the impression that "polo parties" offer a most interesting way to entertain and several other parties are planned for the immediate future.

The games were unusually close with the Symmes School team outplaying the Good School with a score of 20 to 17 while the second game found the Symmes School winning 12 to 10 from the Good Seconds.

Ralph Symmes and Leo Boyle were the outstanding players in the first game with thirteen and fourteen goals respectively and in the second game Miller featured with seven of the coveted goals.

The summary:
Symmes School (20)
Good School (17)
No. 1 Symmes No. 1. Harry Good

MEDFORD VS CAVALRY

Saturday night, at the Commonwealth Armory, the Medford Ramblers will meet the 110th Cavalry in the second game of the Class B match play. The Cavalry trio of John Walsh, Capt. Roland Mangini and Bob Almy, is favored to win because of their easy victory over the Harvard Jayvees earlier in the season. The Ramblers are not licked, however, and with Harry Good again riding for the Ramblers, supported by Ralph Symmes, Leo Boyle and Weeley Dennis, anything can happen and the game should prove highly interesting.

The second game of the evening will find Candlewood riding against Harvard. Candlewood is undefeated but with Dudley Milliken in and not expected to play they face Harvard minus their Ace for this crucial match.

The standings to date are as follows:

CLASS A		Won	Lost

WHEN POLITICS TAKES COMMAND

When government goes into a business, politics takes command. Red tape replaces capability. Favoritism hampers efficiency. The bureaucrat gets the jobs—the public official gets the fun—and the taxpayer gets the bill.

That is a severe indictment, but experience seems to justify it. The private business executive must produce results or get out. The public business executive has no financial interest at stake. If he doesn't go in for personal graft he is safe. He doesn't have to make both ends meet—the public treasury will pay the deficits he creates. He is immune to taxes, to ordinary competition, to all the things that keep private business men on their toes. He is often free to adopt strange and mysterious bookkeeping methods which dim the real results of operation. And he is completely divorced from realities so far as usual business methods are concerned.

In a good many hundreds of years of "government in business", no one has been able to figure out how to divorce it from politics and put it on a "business" basis.

USEFUL WORK FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

One of the requirements of the Civil Works Administration, is that its funds shall be used for payrolls only. No part of them may be given to buying materials and supplies. The result is that in many communities with C. W. A. allotments, it is becoming increasingly difficult to find productive employment for the workers, particularly as the majority of cities and towns are without money with which to purchase materials that would make possible building and construction activities.

With this in mind, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has addressed a letter to mayors of a large number of American cities, recommending that relief work of this kind be partly devoted to the removal of fire hazards and the improvement of water distribution systems—projects which require much labor and little material.

This is certainly an excellent suggestion. No work can be more beneficial to the public at large than that which safeguards life, health and property—none comes more genuinely under the heading of a community duty. In preventing fire and improving facilities for quenching blazes once they break out, C. W. A. funds can be used to the utmost advantage. As a safety measure it is particularly advantageous if city finances permit, to replace old and small water mains and hydrants with new ones, and install additional hydrants in high value districts.

The National Board's suggestion should receive careful consideration. It would protect the nation against fire, while providing useful work for the unemployed.

Did You Ever Stop To Think

by
Edson R. White

THAT the civic spirit of a city is the sum total of the spirit of its citizens.

A citizen is part of a city and it is up to each one of them to display their own civic patriotism in their individual lives.

The future growth of a city depends entirely upon the part that its citizens take in its every day life.

To assure better business (and it is by better business that a city grows) a high spirit of loyalty to the home city must be developed and maintained.

As civic patriotism is the cornerstone of loyalty, cooperation among the citizens for the benefit of all must be had. Cities grow in direct proportion to the way its citizens work together.

All citizens should support the city that supports them.

A great need in many cities is for a lot of grouches and tight-wads to come alive and try to be good neighbors and good citizens. If they would get together and boost together they could do wonders.

If the business men of some cities would spend as much time fighting for business as they do fighting among themselves, each individual business would be in better shape, as well as that of the entire city.

TUFTS FACULTY TAKES

B. A. A. AT SQUASH, 3-2
The Tufts faculty team entered in the Massachusetts Squash Racquets League defeated the strong Boston Athletic Association club, 3-2, playing at the squash courts in Cousens gymnasium Saturday afternoon. Tufts is listed in Class D Division 2, and by virtue of its win, has a percentage of .267 in seventh place. Harvard Frosh and Union Boat Club are tied for first with .800.

The summary of the matches is as follows:

TUFTS 3, B. A. A. 2

At Tufts
F. Bogardus (B. A. A.) beat J. R. Bird, 15-10, 15-12, 11-15, 16-14; E. Williams (B. A. A.) beat H. Barry, 15-12, 15-12, 8-15, 17-15; J. L. Manly (T.) beat R. Goodrich 15-9, 15-10, 15-18, 17-15; J. Banca (T.) beat T. Edwards, 15-9, 15-8, 15-3; G. Merrill (T.) beat R. Connell, 15-10, 11-15, 15-12, 15-10.

It was a tough break for Coach Lew Manly to lose that Northeastern game, for if he could get by the Huskies' strong team, he was well on the way toward an undefeated season. But the two Morse brothers had one of those nights when everything thrown in the direction of the basket went through the hoop. Just a lucky night for them while the superior Brown and Blue quintet had to be the victim.

Just Another Pot for Venzke

Receiving trophies is an old story to Gene Venzke, University of Pennsylvania's star miler, who is shown as he was presented with the James M. Curley trophy by Joseph Kirby after his victory in the mile event at the Prout Memorial Games at Boston, recently. Venzke galloped to victory in 4 minutes and 20 seconds.

CURRENT NEWS OF LIVELY INTEREST

NEW FAST FREIGHT SERVICE TO NEW ENGLAND

Another improvement in fast freight service over the Pennsylvania Railroad, which provides a third morning delivery of shipments from the Middle West, to New England points, and a first morning basis of service from Potomac Yard on the south, has just been inaugurated in conjunction with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the Boston & Maine Railroad.

A high speed freight train from Chicago, another from St. Louis, and a third from the south by way of Potomac Yard on the outskirts of Washington are scheduled to arrive at New York in time for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad's fast freight train which connects at Cedar Hill, just outside of New Haven, with the "Maine Bullet", for Worcester, Lowell, Lawrence, Portland and Boston.

These fast freight trains from the West and the South also have connections through the Wilkes-Barre gateway and the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, Mechanicsville and the Boston and Maine Railroad, which provide a similar freight service to Boston.

The new service includes all classes of carload traffic, embracing perishables, packing house products and non-perishable freight. The schedules are as rigid in their requirements as those of passenger trains in providing the quickest possible freight service into the New England territory, which is what the Pennsylvania Railroad management is constantly endeavoring to do.

MEN IN TRAMP CAMP IN NEED OF SOAP

Soap and tobacco are the two great needs of the 199 homeless transients who are being housed and fed at Camp Curtis Guild, the State Rifle Range in Reading, under the project of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration. Shelter, food and clothing are being supplied in sufficient quantities for all the men, but they are willing to be clean and they like their pipes and Uncle Sam has not got around yet to furnishing enough of soap and tobacco. Organizations in the neighboring towns are helping out, but much more of both can be used to advantage.

Daily papers and magazines, books of all kinds are in great demand as the men have considerable leisure time, more now than they will have later when the ground thaws and out-door work can begin with earnest. There are tournaments between teams from the various barracks in checkers, cribbage, whist and other games.

A piano has been secured and there is need for sheet music, no matter how old. Musical instruments that have been discarded and are collecting dust in attics can be given a new lease of life if sent to the camp here.

BILL TO STERILIZE INSANE TURNED DOWN

The proposal to sterilize insane, feeble-minded and epileptic inmates of Sate and County institutions was turned down yesterday by the Legislative Committee on Public Welfare.

The report on the bill, which was proposed by Representative Harold E. Cole of Taunton, will be "leave to withdraw."

400 CCC JOBS IN NEW ENGLAND FOR WAR VETS

Major General Conner, commandant at the First Corps Area headquarters, says there are 400 jobs in the New England conservation corps camps for war veterans residing in the district. Unemployed war veterans desiring to join the corps, General Conner said, should apply without delay to the regional office of the Veterans' Administration in their home States. Bay State veterans should file their applications at the administration offices in the new Boston postoffice.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. FULLER

Private funeral services for Mrs. Flora A. Fuller, mother of former Governor Alvan T. Fuller, were held yesterday afternoon at the Crematory Chapel at Forest Hills cemetery, where Dr. W. Quay Roselle, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Malden, officiated.

Before the services, Malcolm Lang played "Going Home" from the World Symphonies, and at their conclusion, Dr. Roselle read favorite chapters of Mrs. Fuller's from the Bible.

29 CHILDREN IN BUS RIDE ON COWCATCHER

SPRINGVILLE, N. Y.—Twenty-nine children in a smashed bus rode the cowcatcher of a train for 500 feet here yesterday—and none was killed.

Ten were injured, four seriously, as the locomotive ploughed into the centre of the bus, crushing one side almost its entire length and hurling the children about like tenpins.

No lives were lost because the bus "jammed" on the cowcatcher and was carried along until the train was stopped, instead of being hurled to the rails in front of the locomotive. The driver's view was obscured by frost.

Hiding Ugly Buildings

Many yards have unsightly garages or other small buildings that it is desirable to hide or ugly board fences to disguise. Annual vines and some of the taller growing annuals are admirable to use as screens in such cases.

The best annual to hide an unsightly object quickly is the castor bean, the most majestic annual in the flower lists. The Zanzibar types are particularly fine. With the first warm days, the castor bean starts sending out its huge palmate leaves and spinning up a thick, sturdy stalk until it is six to eight feet tall with a wide spread.

The tall annual sunflowers of the old-fashioned, familiar "Russian" type now comes in shades of red and full doubles, which make majestic ornaments of height and form a substantial screen.

Then there are the annual vines, the morning glory being the quickest and most effective, and quickly covering any trellis or screen arranged for it by grabbing any support in sight if none is furnished. The Japanese morning glories offer a wonderful range of coloring and marking, particularly the imperial strain. They have leaves of varying shape and sometimes are attractively variegated.

The hyacinth bean and the old scarlet runner are valuable vines to furnish thick foliage, attractive, clean and with handsome blossoms to go with it. The moonflower is another useful member of the morning glory tribe that will reach up to the second story in a hurry, once it gets going.

Vines of finer texture which furnish veils of concealment rather than screen are the handsome Cardinal climber, a gorgeous sight and the cypress vine. Cobea scandens is another handsome climber of splendid growth with beautiful purple bells. The seed should always be planted edgewise.

The old-fashioned Madeira vine, tubers of which are now on sale is coming into popularity again as a porch vine. It has leathery, glossy foliage and fragrant white sprays of flowers.

One of the quickest-growing annual vines is the wild cucumber. The gourds also are useful.

NEW ENGLAND AS WINTER PLAYGROUND DISCUSSED BY SPORTS LEADERS

With representative winter sports leaders from all over New England in attendance, the first annual joint winter sports luncheon meeting of the New England Council and the Advertising Club of Boston was held at New England Council headquarters of the newly formed Cooperating Committee on Winter Sports Development, created by the Council to assist the New England-wide movement to develop improved winter sports facilities and greater interest in winter sports on the part of New Englanders and residents of other areas.

"Winter sports development of New England has only just begun," Colonel William A. Barron, chairman of the Recreational Development Committee of the New England Council, declared in addressing the joint luncheon meeting. "New England is unexcelled east of the Rocky Mountains in natural facilities for winter sports. Thomas Dreier, chairman of the New Hampshire Development Commission, and principal speaker at the luncheon, pointed out. New England has not yet achieved recognition as a winter sports area that certain other regions have won, he said, but this is only a matter of time, and can be expedited by the organized effort of the New England Council and recreational interests throughout the New England states in working to bring about proper development and recognition of winter sports in this area, the New Hampshire Development Commission chairman asserted.

"As an example of the potentialities of New England," Mr. Dreier declared, "it should be pointed out that the state of New Hampshire alone now receives a greater income from recreation annually than does Switzerland. Careful researches made by the New Hampshire Development Commission show this. And as yet the winter possibilities of New Hampshire have hardly been touched," he added.

The joint luncheon was attended by large delegations from winter sports clubs, including the White Mountains Ski Runners, the Ski Club Hochgebirge, the Appalachian Mountain Club, the Dartmouth Outing Club of Boston, and miscellaneous skiing and outing clubs throughout New England.

The program, broadcast over stations WBZ-WBZA, was enlivened by a message from Joe Dodge who sent greetings to the assembled business men and winter sports enthusiasts from atop Mount Washington, by an artificial snowstorm, and by the appearance of Norman Vaughan, famous dog driver, with a team of sled dogs.

On behalf of the Recreational Development Committee of the New England Council, Colonel Barron expressed the support of the New England Council for the development of winter sports as a means of increasing New England's income from recreation, which already equals approximately half a billion dollars a year. He said the Council's Recreational Development Committee is intensely interested in making New England a year-round playground and not only merely a summer recreation center.

Colonel Barron was introduced by Maurice Osborne, Boston advertising agency executive, and chairman of the Council's Cooperating Committee on Winter Sports. President Walter Myers of the Advertising Club of Boston presided.

Every community in New England where snow exists throughout the winter should organize its own local winter sports development program, Mr. Dreier told his audience. Citing the experience of several communities in New Hampshire which have become extremely popular with winter sports enthusiasts as a result of providing them with skiing and other sports facilities, Mr. Dreier asserted that almost any northern New England community can do likewise. Even communities in non-mountainous areas where snow conditions are less dependable, can stimulate much interest in outdoor sports for their young people through the provision of such facilities as their conditions permit, he asserted.

Junior Garden Club Has Tryouts For Presentation

At the last meeting of the Junior Garden Club, dollies of oilcloth were made, and there was a brief tryout for parts in the play, "The Cinderella" to be given in April before the Garden Club. The officers and two members are to carry out a typical Junior Garden Club meeting for the Garden Club President's Day, Tuesday, Feb. 6.

The next meeting is Feb. 9. An illustrated talk on "Our Wild Flowers" by Miss Juliet Richardson, will be given. A large audience is desired so each member may bring one guest and the Girl Scouts are invited if any are interested.

PARAMOUNT — FENWAY

The superb showmanship of Cecil B. DeMille is once more made manifest in his latest Paramount picture "Four Frightened People," which will have its New England premier at the Paramount and Fenway theatres on Thursday, Feb. 21.

The story details the adventure of four highly cultured people, two women and two men, who were forced to escape from a Dutch steamer when bubonic plague breaks out. Lost for months in a Malay jungle, they turn to primitive manners and habits. The transformation of a prim little school teacher into a beautiful jungle creature over whom men fight provides some novel situations.

The companion feature at both theatres will be Warner Bros. latest picture "Easy to Love," a sparkling, spley comedy of philandering husbands and jealous wives with plenty of unexpected twists in it. Included in the cast are such stars as Adolphe Menjou, Genevieve Tobin, Edward Everett Horton, Mary Astor, Patricia Ellis, and Guy Kibbee.

Says Government Plays Two Ways On Salary Cuts

The irreconcilability of the government policies of continuing wage cuts for its own employees while demanding increased wages and shorter hours for private employment is dramatically accentuated, according to the February issue of the Union Postal Clerk, official organ of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, by a direct conflict of statement between two government agencies as to increases in the cost of living.

A cost of living survey conducted by the Bureau of Labor Statistics presented such figures to the President that, under the mandatory features of the Economy Act, he was unable to restore any part of a 15 per cent cut in the wages of government employees. The Economy Act predicated return of such cut upon increases in the cost of living during six months periods one of which ended January 1 last.

This deprived government employees of any hope of wage restoration until July 1. In the meantime, legislation continuing 10 per cent wage cut through the fiscal year beginning July 1 was approved by the House Appropriation Committee and tacked onto the first appropriation bill.

Testifying before this very committee, at the hearings at which this continuation of the wage cut was approved, Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, head of the Veterans' Administration, stated that much higher prices are now being paid for supplies. He predicted still further increases. Among other items listed by him was an increase of as high as 90 per cent for flour, 50 to 150 per cent for coal and fuel oil and increases ranging from eight to 120 per cent for other articles commonly purchased by households.

"Reduced to its lowest terms," the Union Postal Clerk says, "it appears that one agency of the government, dealing with wages of government employees, finds no increase in prices upon which to base restoration of wages and salaries. At the same time another agency, engaged in the buying of supplies for the government, finds heavier appropriations necessary because the same classes of commodities purchased by householders have materially risen and will probably go still higher."

Crimson Ring Star

The brightest star on the boxing team of Harvard University is Phil Hines, New York youngster, who holds the distinction of having been defeated only once in four years of competition. A natural 155-pounder, Hines would go far as a professional if he cared to desert Simon Pure ranks, say the experts.

ADVERTISEMENTS BRING RESULTS

Disastrous Fall River Fire

Firemen are shown battling the blaze that did damage estimated at $500,000 at Fall River, Mass., when it destroyed the ancient Merchants Mill, ten other buildings and a gasoline station. A CWA worker was killed and 80 persons hurt as firemen of 12 cities battled flames. Several families were rendered homeless.

Sees Benefits To Be Derived From PWA Work

"The problem of depression, and of unemployment, and of relief, and of public works is still nationwide in scope. Consequently, now and for some time to come the Federal government must continue its aid to the states and sub-divisions for public works. In that direction lies the straightest and quickest road to real recovery."

Thus Honorable Oscar L. Chapman, Assistant Secretary of the Interior and Executive Secretary of the Special Board of Public Works summarized the present situation with regard to public works in addressing the annual convention of the American Road Builders' Association at the Stevens Hotel, Chicago.

"Of course you will say, and properly so, that this program will cost money. So does any war program, and this is a war. I am not afraid of spending a fraction of what we spent to win the war, when as a nation we were not in any real danger," Mr. Chapman continued.

"The fund of $3,300,000,000 which was appropriated by Congress in June has been practically allotted, but, over and above that sum there are applications for non-Federal projects pending with the Public Works Administration aggregating more than $2,500,000,000; almost as much again as was originally appropriated.

"That figure gives you some idea of the demand for Public Works—but not a full idea, because it does not include Federal projects. Nor does it include the extensive flood control work that needs to be done. The great expenditures which need to be made for decent housing are included only in part. It is no longer a question of whether we can afford housing and flood control; it is a question of whether we can afford to go without."

CWA RESTORING MISSION
SAN FRANCISCO—San Francisco's oldest building now standing will be restored to its original condition through civil works administration aid. The building is the historic chapel built by Spanish soldiers in September, 1776, at time of the founding of the Presidio. It is a month older than the Mission Dolores, regarded by many as San Francisco's oldest structure. The 157-year-old chapel is the only unit remaining of the first Presidio. It is still being used by soldiers, being the headquarters of the Presidio Officers' club.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Stuffed Flank Steak

1 flank steak
1 cup soft bread crumbs
4 tablespoons bacon drippings
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley or celery tops
1 tablespoon chopped green peppers
1 beaten egg
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
Flour
Select a good-sized flank steak. Have it scored in criss-cross fashion at the market. Season it with salt and pepper. Mix the bread crumbs with chopped parsley or celery tops, minced onion, chopped green peppers and 2 tablespoons bacon drippings. Add the beaten egg and enough water to moisten. Spread on the steak. Roll up and tie or skewer into shape. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Melt the other 4 tablespoons bacon drippings in a deep baking pan, and brown the flank steak roll on all sides in the hot fat. Add 1 cup water, cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until done, about two hours.

METROPOLITAN

One of the finest programs ever presented Boston theatregoers is in store for patrons of the Metropolitan, week beginning Friday, February 2nd. Lew Leslie's new, extravagant production of his perennially popular "Blackbirds of 1934" with the Broadway cast intact, will be the special stage attraction while the screen feature coupled with this successful musical, is Warner Bros. long heralded "laugh extravaganza", "Fashions of 1934." This combination of stage and film fare is one of the greatest box-office draws offered to local amusement fans in some time.

"Fashions of 1934", a combination of hilarious comedy, glamorous romance and lavish spectacle, the latter staged by Busby Berkeley creator of the specialty numbers in "42nd Street" and "Footlight Parade" is Warner Brothers contribution to the hit films of 1934. The hit scene in the film features 200 beauties executing a daring fan dance. Another scene is the monster dance in which 50 models in the very latest in mid-lady's 1934 wardrobe.

Sevitzky and the grand orchestra will enhance the program with another of their delightful musical offerings in which the works of the old composers will be presented in an especially arranged overture.
